

POTUS Talks Brackets (NCAA, Not Taxes)

Basketball fan in chief Barack Obama has once again shared his NCAA tournament predictions with ESPN — picking Louisville, Indiana, Ohio State and the University of Miami for his Final Four and choosing Indiana to win it all. “I’m going Louisville. I know it’s not a surprise pick,”

Obama said in an interview with ESPN’s “SportsCenter” on Wednesday. “And I’m going with Indiana. These are the two best teams right now, and for the championship I’m going back to the Big Ten. I think this is Indiana’s year.”

— Caitlin McDevitt

